

911faceoff.com launches today

New website will settle the debate once and for all – which is the best Porsche 911 ever made?

Porsche has produced over 60 models of 911 since the car was launched back in 1963, and enthusiasts hotly debate which model is best. Some like the old classics, while others favour today's supercars. But perhaps now the debating is over...

An innovative new website from Imagine Publishing – www.911faceoff.com – allows Porsche's worldwide enthusiasts to sit in the driver's seat of each 911 model and choose their all-time favourite from an exhaustive online database.

The website randomly pits two 911s against each other in an infinite number of face-off battles, and depending of the results, it builds a comprehensive list of the top 50 Porsche 911s in order of popularity. To help you decide, each car comes with an image, specification, performance figures and a 911Face-Off rating. And if you're really stuck, you can opt for a draw.

"911 Face-Off is great fun and surprisingly addictive," said Philip Raby, Editor in Chief at Imagine. "You can make a snap judgement based on your gut instinct, study the stats carefully before picking, or use our ratings to sway your decision. Not only is 911 Face-Off a lot of fun, it's also a real eye-opener to see just how many different 911s there are!"
